The following order of Governnent is published for general information :—

READ THE FOLLOWING PAPERS:—

(1) Note by the Dewan, Mr. V. P. Madhava Rao, C.I.E., dated the 30th April 1906.

The subject of the position and prospects of Civilian Assistant Commissioners, and of others in parallel grades, has attracted His Highness the Maharaja's attention on more than one occasion during the past three years. Information collected during this period has indicated that there has been considerable fluctuation in the number of Assistant and Extra Assistant Commissioners from time to time, that the interchange of officers between the different Departments has not been made on any definite principle, that no clear rules of selection exist or have been regularly followed, and that no limits have been fixed to the number of appointments of Extra Assistant Commissioners.

It has further become apparent that the system of recruitment for the several services is not based on sufficiently rigid and definite principles, and that the position and prospects of the officers recruited by competition require reconsideration in the light of experience gained since 1891. Under these circumstances, His Highness has expressed the desire that the whole question, involving as it does the cadres of the several services, the number of appointments required, and their grading, so as to allow of a reasonable flow of promotion, and, finally, the system of recruitment, should be exhaustively considered, and that definite proposals should be submitted for his consideration.

2. The starting point for the whole question is the passing of Government Order Camp No. 407-22, dated the 1st November 1891, which constituted the Mysore Civil Service, and which is rightly regarded by the Civilian Officers of this service as their charter. It is unnecessary to describe in detail the circumstances which necessitated the constitution of such a service, as the facts are fully set forth in the papers printed with the said Government Order. Its opening sentence summarised the situation in these words :—

"Difficulties having been experienced in suitably filling the higher appointments of the Executive and Judicial services in Mysore, entirely by selection from the lower ranks as these are at present constituted, and it being necessary to secure and train properly qualified recruits, and improve the status of the higher grades of the service, His Highness the Maharaja has resolved to constitute a special higher service to be called the Mysore Civil Service, etc., etc."

The same difficulties are found to exist even now, owing mainly to the failure to give due effect to the Civil Service scheme.

3. Under the scheme of 1891, all admissions into the Mysore Civil Service were to be only in one of two ways, viz.,

1stly, by success at a competitive examination, to be held once every one or two years as might be required ;

2ndly, by special selection by His Highness the Maharaja either from distinguished members of the lower ranks of the public service or on family or other considerations, the number of such not exceeding the number admitted by competition.

Assistant and Probationary Assistant Commissioners already in service were placed on a Schedule A, and those newly entertained on a Schedule B. Subsequently, in 1894, a separate grade of Extra Assistant Commissioners on salaries on a lower scale was created in order to meet the case of officers who, though not qualified to be admitted or retained in either of the Schedules, had rendered in the subordinate grades long and meritorious service deserving of recognition.

4. The first examination under the scheme was held in July 1892, and the second in July 1894; and in each of these years two young men from the top of the list of successful candidates were appointed as Probationary Assistant Commissioners of Schedule B, and two others were taken on by special selection.

5. In 1896, there was much discussion in the Regency Council as to the necessity for a modification of the arrangements already laid down. Finally Her Highness the Maharani-Regent ruled that, out of six appointments to be made at the next examination, two should go to the first two candidates at the top of the list, two to qualified Mysore candidates, if any, according to order of marks, and the rest to individuals specially selected by Her Highness. The next (or third) examination was accordingly held in September 1897; and the last (after an interval of four years) in September 1901. Since then the necessity for holding the examination periodically, as contemplated by the scheme sanctioned by the late Maharaja, does not appear to have been realized, and the requirements of the service were met, from time to time, by additions to the list of Extra Assistant Commissioners, the principles of recruitment to which grade also underwent a corresponding change. In place of being an exceptional means of rewarding good work in the subordinate grades, the Extra Assistant Commissioners' grade has become a regular branch of the service, and latterly recruits have even begun to be appointed to this grade on probation, in forgetfulness of the original object with which it was constituted.

6. To illustrate the change that has taken place in the composition of the service, I may point out that the entire cadre of Assistants, which comprised at the end of the year 1893—

23 Assistant Commissioners of Schedule A,
2 Do of Schedule B by competition,
2 Do of Schedule B by nomination,

8. The haphazard methods of recruitment pursued of late years have not proved satisfactory, and it is high time that we decided finally to lay down, in terms unmistakeable and not liable to be ignored or overlooked in future, a well-considered scheme of recruitment for the Civil Service. I may say at once that no great departure from the distinctive features of the scheme as sanctioned in 1891 is, in my opinion, either necessary or advisable. A few modifications in details are alone required, together with provision for incorporating the Extra Assistant Commissioners' grade as an integral part of the scheme.

9. Thus, I would hold the Civil Service Examination regularly once every two years. The necessity for any "modification of the existing optional and obligatory examination subjects," such as that contemplated in Her Highness the Maharani-Regent's orders of 26th December 1896, may be considered later on, after the outlines of the present scheme shall have been duly settled.

Two persons from the top of the list of successful candidates will be selected at each examination, and admitted on probation to the grade of Assistant Commissioners proper, which will be closed to all others. During the year of probation (which as now may be extended to two or three years in the case of those who do not get through earlier), the prescribed examinations in Civil, Criminal and Revenue Law, Kanarese and Equitation will have to be completed by every officer on probation. After confirmation as an Assistant Commissioner on Rs. 250, such officer may rise by biennial increments of Rs. 50 to Rs. 450. After at least two years on Rs. 450, he will be eligible for promotion, if possessed of sufficient merit and if vacancies exist, to the grade of Senior Assistant Commissioner rising by annual increments of Rs. 50 to a maximum of Rs. 600. The total number of appointments in this grade may, in consideration of the larger number of officers among whom it will have to be shared, be fixed at eight (as against 5 at present). This arrangement, under which promotion to the first class will not be possible before 9 years (as against 6 at present), or to the maximum of the Senior Assistant Commissioners' grade before 13 at the earliest, will attain the object of making the earning of increments somewhat slower for men recruited in future, thereby obviating the difficulty arising from too rapid promotion in early years followed by subsequent stagnation.

10. The grade of Extra Assistant Commissioners may be recruited once in two years, after the results of the Civil Service Examination are known, by the admission of two or more persons—according to vacancies,—who may be specially selected by His Highness the Maharaja either from officers of proved merit in the lower ranks of the public service (such as Mun-siffs, Amildars, Police Inspectors, Excise Supervisors, etc.,) who are found qualified for holding higher appointments, or upon family or other considerations of fitness.

These recruits may, in the first instance, be admitted on probation to the grade of Extra Assistant Commissioners, and made eligible for confirmation at the end of a year (or, including one or two years of grace, as the case may be, three years in all) and after passing the prescribed tests. But officers already in the service may be confirmed as soon as they fully qualify themselves, irrespective of their putting in the full period of probation. Extra Assistant Commissioners will rise from Rs. 250 to Rs. 450 by triennial increments of Rs. 50 each as at present, and thence, subject to the same conditions as in the case of Civilians, by annual increments of Rs. 50 to a maximnm of Rs. 600, this maximum being reached in the ordinary course in 18 years.

11. So much for the method of recruitment. For appointments of Divisional and Treasury Officers in the Revenue Department, Subordinate Judges, Police Superintendents, Excise Assistants, Survey Assistants, Assistant Comptrollers and others of the same nature, I would choose men qualified by aptitude and training from the grades recruited by competition and by nomination without distinction, attaching, if necessary, to particular appointments which require it (such as those of Assistant Secretaries to Government), a special or local allowance. In order to make them qualified for higher Judicial appointments, I would give the Civilians Judicial training as Munsiffs or Sub-Judges for a couple of years, in addition to the Survey and Accounts training insisted on at present. Our service is comparatively a small one, in which it is difficult and inexpedient to keep the different Departments of the State completely separate. The proposals made by me have the advantage of giving us a larger field of choice for good men, besides removing stagnation in the service and equalising the chances of promotion in all the Departments grouped together.

12. In para 10, I have explained that the grade of Extra Assistant Commissioners would be recruited chiefly from officers of approved service in the subordinate grades, among whom I specially mentioned Munsiffs. And in para 14 it is pointed out that the bulk of the appointments on the general list would necessarily go to the men so selected. There is, I may say, no greater likelihood of the claims of qualified men in the ranks of Munsiffs being overlooked under the new arrangement than there is under the existing one. Even now, a Subordinate Judge may be chosen either from Assistant Commissioners of Schedules A and B or from outside those schedules. The only difference between the existing and the proposed arrangement is that, under the former, the Sub-Judges' grade is a distinct one unconnected with the grade of Assistant or Extra Assistant Commissioners, and with a cadre and scale of pay of its own; whereas, under the latter, the appointment of Sub-Judge will be included in the Assistants' cadre The field of choice will remain as unrestricted as at present, and a Munsiff, who is qualified to be a Sub-Judge, has merely to be drafted into the Extra Assistant Commissioners' grade and posted to do duty as a Sub-Judge, his pay from time to time being regulated by the rule of increments applicable to Extra Assistant Commissioners. His initial pay may be fixed at Rs. 50 more than what he was drawing as Munsiff; and will ordinarily not be less than Rs. 400, the pay of the first class of Munsiffs being Rs. 350.

13. It remains now to specify the probable requirements of each of the Departments concerned. I think the following may be taken as a fairly accurate estimate :—

Department.	Number of officers.
General and Revenue Secretariat ...	3 Assistant Secretaries for charge of Branches, besides a Deputy Secretary.
	1 Assistant Secretary for duty with the Dewan.
	1 Private Secretary to the Dewan.
Revenue Department ...	20 Assistant Commissioners for charge of 20 Divisions. (Remarks.—This number is capable of reduction; but I will not complicate the present question by making any proposals at this stage.)
	8 Treasury Assistant Commissioners.
	1 Huzur Treasury Officer.*
	2 Assistant Commissioner Magistrates for Mysore and Bangalore Cities.

*Now of the status of Deputy Commissioner.

Department.		Number of officers.
Revenue Department.—concld.		1 Assistant to the Revenue Commissioner, Revenue Branch.
		1 Assistant to the Statistical and Agricultural Branch.
Excise Department	...	8 Assistant Commissioners, one for each District. (Remarks.—This number may, I think, be considerably reduced, an Assistant Commissioner being only given for each of the larger Districts of Bangalore, Mysore, Shimoga and Kolar, the other four Districts being each given an Excise Supervisor of the status of Amildar.)
		1 Head-quarter Assistant.
Survey and Settlement Department	...	5 Assistant Superintendents, besides 1 Deputy Superintendent and two Sub-Assistant Superintendents (as at present). (Remarks.—After the present revision settlement operations are over, some reduction in the number of officers in this Department may be possible.)
Police Department	...	9 Superintendents, one for each District and one for French Rocks.
		1 Head-quarter Assistant.
Judicial Department	...	5 Subordinate Judges.
		1 Registrar of the Chief Court.
Account Department	...	4 Assistant Comptrollers (against one Chief Assistant and 3 Assistant Comptrollers at present).
	Total ..	72 (as against 86 officers on the list at present which, however, includes officers on leave, other duty, etc.)

To provide for casualties, absences on leave and any unusual or special duties of a temporary character, and to meet the case of Probationers who may be undergoing training for work, five more places may be allowed, making 77 in all. Where an officer is deputed for special work which may keep him engaged indefinitely, or for a long time, he may be shown as seconded in the list of Assistant or Extra Assistant Commissioners, and his place filled up substantively pro tem, so as to maintain the same aggregate number of appointments. I would mention the following as instances of appointments which need not be brought on the cadre of Assistant and Extra Assistant Commissioners, viz., the Vice-President of a Municipality, the Forest Settlement Officer, the Officer in charge of Palace Establishments, the Special Magistrate of the Kolar Gold Fields, the Registrar of the General Secretariat, etc.; some of these appointments (e. g., Forest Settlement Officer) are of a temporary nature, and others (e. g. Special Magistrate of the Gold Fields, Registrar of the Secretariat) may have to be filled up occasionally or altogether by men outside the regular list. The scale once duly sanctioned should not be arbitrarily altered. Any change which circumstances may suggest should receive the sanction of His Highness the Maharaja.

14. It will be seen that my proposals involve the admission of not less than four men into the service every two years, two by competition and two or more by special selection. I adopt that figure because, as will presently appear, it is the minimum number required for filling up the vacancies from various causes (such as death, retirement, promotion, long leave and special duty) that will have to be provided for in respect of the appointments enumerated in para 13. A detailed examination which I have caused to be made of the Civil Lists and of the History of Services of Gazetted Officers from 1891 to 1905, (vide Statements A and B, not printed) supplies the following data on the point:—

Year	Number of vacancies by					Total number of vacancies
	Death	Retirement	Promotion	Long leave	Special duty
1891 ...	...	...	1	...	1	2
1892 ...	1	1	...	...	6	8
1893	1	1	...	3	2	7
1894 ...	...	2	1	1	1	5
1895 ...	2	4	3	1	..	10
1896 ...	...	3	...	2	2	7
1897 ...	1	2	2	1	1	7
1898 ...	...	2	2	...	4	8
1899 ...	....	5	2	...	5	12
1900 ...	1	2	1	2	1	7

1903 ...	...	1	3	2	...	6
1904 ...	2	1	3	2	4	12
1905 ...	1	4	1	3	2	11
Total ...	11	38	22	22	31	124*

* Or about 8 per year.

The above figures indicate that the average number of vacancies from all causes to be provided for every two years is 16, or from death, retirement and promotion alone 9, during the same period. The minimum number of admissions provided for by me is therefore considerably within the probable limit of vacancies. It will also be clear that the bulk of the appointments will go to the men selected from the subordinate grades. This is an additional reason for not interfering with the integrity of the original scheme for the admission of a small number of a superior class of men as civilians by competition.

15. The exact financial effect of the scheme will be examined in consultation with the Comptroller before it takes final shape. Meanwhile, in order to give a general idea of the cost, a comparative statement (Statement C) is put up showing the maximum cost under the existing scale and that under the new scheme.

16. Turning to the higher appointments available to members of the Civil Service, I may point out that the list given in para XI of the Order of 1st November 1891 requires revision as follows:—

8 Deputy Commissioners.
1 General and Revenue Secretary.
1 Muzrai Secretary (until this appointment is abolished).
1 Deputy Secretary.
3 District Judges.

To the above appointments both grades of officers, Assistants and Extra Assistants, will be eligible, if duly qualified; but in consideration of their superior qualifications, I would reserve not less than one-half of the higher appointments to officers recruited by competition.

17. Coming, lastly, to the three Civilian Assistant Commissioners whose representations were lately before Government, I would recommend that their cases and those of others who have reached the first class in Schedules A and B, may be dealt with in strict conformity with the proposals I have made in para 9. That is to say, such of them as have put in not less than eleven years in all in the grade of Assistant Commissioners, including two years in the first class, may, if found qualified for higher appointments, be promoted as Senior Assistant Commissioners, as vacancies arise in this grade, the number of appointments in which will, under my proposals, be fixed at eight. I reserve making specific recommendations in regard to individual officers, till the above scheme is finally sanctioned by His Highness the Maharaja.

READ ALSO—The following Note by the Dewan, dated the 28th June 1906, explanatory of the Mysore Civil Service Scheme :—

Some misconception appears to exist in regard to the scheme that has been under the consideration of His Highness the Maharaja's Government for improving the system of recruitment for the higher grades of the service in Mysore. And, as a result, various mistaken statements have found currency regarding the object and scope of the measure and its effect upon the ultimate composition of the service.

The object of the scheme is simply to group the appointments corresponding to the grade of Assistant Commissioner in various allied Departments together on a general list, to fix once for all the cadre for these Departments, and to regularize and improve the modes of recruitment to the general service. Its aim is not, as alleged, to restrict admission to the Assistant Commissioners' grade to men entering by competition; but, on the contrary, while retaining the principle of admission by competition in regard to a smaller proportion of total appointments than before, it opens the higher grades of the service to practically all Departments of the State except those of a technical nature, and increases the chances of those who rise from the lower grades by fully 100 per cent. It at the same time leaves unaffected the prerogative of His Highness the Maharaja to select men in special cases on the ground of family or other considerations of fitness. The bulk of the admissions to the new Schedule B will be from the lower ranks of the service, and the remainder will include men chosen from some or all of the following classes :—

(1) Men selected on family considerations possessing also educational qualifications sufficient, in the opinion of His Highness the Maharaja, for nomination to the Civil Service.

(2) Mysoreans who have distinguished themselves in the competitive examination.

(3) Mohammadans or members of any other community in the Mysore State which may be insufficiently represented in the public service, provided they are graduates of an Indian or other University.

It is apparent therefore that the Mysorean will be a distinct gainer by the new arrangement as the subordinate grades are manned almost entirely by Mysoreans by birth or domicile.

Thus, under the Civil Service Scheme as originally sanctioned in 1891, for every two appointments by open competition there were two by nomination either from the subordinate grades or on family or other considerations. This was modified in 1896, so as to increase the proportion of appointments by competition from two to four, of which half were to go to the two successful candidates at the top of the list and half to Mysore candidates lower down in the list. The present idea is to retain the distinctive character of recruitment by competition and, while limiting admissions by competition to two, to increase the admissions by selection to an average of seven. The total number of appointments of all Departments grouped together on the general list being about 81, the competition men will appropriate not more than 18 places against 63 places reserved for purely local men.

The necessity for the occasional admixture of a superior class of recruits in the Assistant Commissioners' grade will not need explanation for those who have a direct knowledge of the personnel in that and the higher grades. It is only necessary to say that the experience of the last fifteen years has more than justified the expectations formed of the good results likely to ensue from a limited system of recruitment by competition; and that, on the whole, the competition man, whether Mysorean or otherwise, has shown himself decidedly superior not only to the man nominated on family or other considerations, but also, with few exceptions, to the man recruited from the lower ranks of the service.

In framing the new scheme, it has been considered undesirable to lower the standard of efficiency for candidates admitted by competition by going lower down than the first two in order of successful candidates; but there is nothing to prevent Mysore students competing, and, if possessed of the necessary attainments, securing one of the two places; as indeed happened in 1901. The fact that Mysore Government scholars have in successive years carried off guaranteed appointments in the Public Works Department in Bombay shows that the best Mysore candidates need not fear competition with those coming from the British Indian Provinces.

The present scheme does not take away the chances of Mysoreans who, while failing to secure the first or second places, have distinguished themselves in the competitive examination. It is still open to the Government to keep this principle in view in making nominations, the number of which has been considerably increased.

The increase by 100 per cent in the number to be appointed by selection is not the only advantage the Mysorean has under the new scheme. The pay of the different classes in the Assistant Commissioners' grade will be the same both for competition men and for those nominated, and the higher grades will be thrown open to Extra Assistant Commissioners who form a considerable body now, but have practically no chance of rising to be Deputy Commissioners, District Judges or Heads of Departments. As against these decided advantages, the only point on which the men nominated and those selected from the lower grades are not on the same footing as competition men is, that whereas the latter rise to the highest class in the grade of Assistant Commissioners in 10 years, the men nominated or rising from the lower grades will reach it in 14 years or 4 years later. Even here it is only men nominated direct that will have to rise more slowly than the competition men. For those who are already in the service, and at the time of their admission into the Civil Service happen to be drawing salaries of Rs. 250, Rs. 300, or Rs. 350, as Amildars or Munsiffs, will, far from being in an unfavourable position, have a distinct advantage over the men admitted by competition, in that they will reach the highest class of their grade in one, four or seven years, as the case may be, sooner than the latter.

Even more than this advantage in favor of the Mysorean candidate is the fact that, under the new scheme, as already noticed, the officers of the Assistant Commissioners' grade now known as Extra Assistant Commissioners, who are recruited almost entirely from the subordinate grades, and are practically all Mysoreans (born or domiciled), will have a recognized status given to them, and be placed in a position of perfect equality with the Assistant Commissioners who enter by competition, when they reach the highest class of Assistant Commissioners. After reaching this highest class, the position of the two sets of officers will be exactly the same as regards promotion to higher grades, which will be made entirely on the ground of merit. Thus they will be equally eligible for appointments of Deputy Commissioners and District Judges, and other appointments, which are now virtually closed to Extra Assistant Commissioners.

To make the advantages of the new system clearer, it may be noted that men who have done good work in the ranks of Police Superintendents, Survey Superintendents and Excise Assistants, are all eligible to be made Deputy Commissioners and to be appointed to offices above that grade, from which, as remarked above, they are practically excluded now.

It should also be noted that, being admitted as members of the Civil Service, they will be entitled to the same favourable terms as the competition men in regard to pension.

No. 8964—FINL., DATED THE 28TH JUNE 1906.

ORDER THEREON.—His Highness the Maharaja has had under his consideration the whole subject of the recruitment of officers for the higher grades of the public service in Mysore, including the position and prospects of officers so recruited, and the cadres of the various Departments of the State. His Highness observes that it is necessary to place the matter on a definite and satisfactory basis, and to indicate in unmistakeable terms the principles that should govern recruitments and promotions in future; the more so because full effect has not been given in recent years to the scheme for the constitution of the Mysore Civil Service embodied in Government Order Camp No. 407-22, dated the 1st November 1891. That scheme, moreover, requires modifications in points of detail to suit the conditions of the present time. His Highness the Maharaja has, therefore, been pleased to lay down the following revised rules to regulate admissions to, and grading and promotions in, the Civil Service of Mysore, in supersession of all existing orders on the subject:—

I. The following officers shall constitute the Mysore Civil Service:—

Assistant Commissioners of the new A and B Schedules, including all officers of that grade working in the Revenue, Excise, Police, Survey, Judicial and Account Departments and in the Government Secretariats; Deputy Commissioners; District Judges; Deputy Secretary *; and General and Revenue Secretary.

* This appointment will not be filled up as long as the separate appointment of Muzrai Secretary is maintained.

II. All future admissions to the Mysore Civil Service shall be only in one of two ways, viz.:—

Firstly, into the new A Schedule by success at a competitive examination of candidates approved by His Highness the Maharaja; and

Secondly, into the new B Schedule by special selection made by His Highness the Maharaja,—

(a) from members of the lower ranks of the Mysore public service, who have rendered meritorious service and have shown themselves fit in every way for holding higher appointments,

(b) or on family or other considerations of fitness.

III. A competitive examination for admission to the Civil Service shall be held once every two years commencing from 1906; provided that, in consideration of the fact that no such examinations were held during the last five years, two additional examinations shall be held, one in 1907 and the other in 1909. The subjects for examination, the dates on which and the manner in which it is to be held, and the proportion of marks required for passing, shall be duly notified at least three months before the examination. Both in point of severity of the tests applied, and range of subjects, the competitive examination shall be similar to that adopted for the Provincial Civil Service in British India.

IV. Candidates for the competitive examination must not be over twenty-five years of age on the date of examination, and must have graduated in Arts in an Indian or other University: provided that, if a candidate is not a native of or domiciled in Mysore, he must be a graduate of either the Madras or the Bombay University.

V. Candidates who fulfil these conditions, and who are desirous of competing, shall send in their names, with evidence of age and qualifications, and information as to their place of birth, caste, family, occupation and social status, and also with certificates of character and conduct, to the General and Revenue Secretary to Government, not later than a date to be fixed. From these candidates selection will be made by His Highness the Maharaja, and the names of those selected shall be notified in the official Gazette. Within a month of such notification, the selected candidates shall present themselves before a Medical Board at a place and on a date to be notified by Government. It shall be an instruction to this Board to reject all candidates not possessed of a good physique and constitution, and not especially fitted for the active duties of an executive officer. The candidates passed by the Board shall then be eligible for the examination.

VI. Two candidates shall be selected from the top of the list of candidates who have passed a satisfactory examination, and admitted on probation to the grade of Assistant Commissioners in the new Schedule A, which shall be closed to all others: provided that Assistant Commissioners of the existing Schedules A and B, howsoever recruited, shall be included in and shown under the new Schedule A in the order of their seniority.

VII. Persons admitted into the Mysore Civil Service by competition as above will draw pay at Rs. 200 a month during the period of probation, which shall be for a term of two years. During that period they shall pass—

1stly, an examination in equitation;

2ndly, a departmental service examination according to rules in force for the time being;

3rdly, such of them as have not taken Kanarese as their optional language in the B.A. Degree examination, the prescribed standard in that language.

A Probationer failing to pass by the end of the two years of probation will be allowed a further year's grace. Failing to pass in the third year, his name will be removed from the list of Probationary Assistant Commissioners.

VIII. On becoming fully qualified as above, a Probationary Assistant Commissioner will be appointed an Assistant Commissioner of the 5th class on Rs. 250. in the new Schedule A, and afterwards rise according to the scale given below in that Schedule:—

To Assistant Commissioner, 4th class, on Rs. 300.	After two years' approved service in the 5th class.
To Assistant Commissioner, 3rd class, on Rs. 350.	After two years' approved service in the 4th class.
To Assistant Commissioner, 2nd class, on Rs. 400.	After two years' approved service in the 3rd class.
To Assistant Commissioner, 1st class, on Rs. 450.	After two years' approved service in the 2nd class.

IX. (1) The grade of Assistant Commissioners of the new Schedule B shall be recruited, soon after the results of each Civil Service Examination are known, by the special selection of the requisite number of persons, according to vacancies, (which on the average will not exceed seven at present) in the manner described in the second clause of Rule II; provided that ordinarily no person shall be selected on family or other considerations, unless he has passed the B.A. Degree of an Indian or other University.

(2) Nothing in clause (1) of this Rule is intended to prevent temporary promotions to the grade of Assistant Commissioner of the new Schedule B from subordinate grades, in order to fill existing vacancies; but an officer so promoted shall not, merely by reason of such promotion, be entitled to confirmation when permanent appointments are made under clause (1).

(3) The question of including in the new Schedule B, such of the members of the present grade of Extra Assistant Commissioners as are duly qualified therefor, is reserved for separate orders.

X. The provisions of Rule VII in regard to the period of probation and the examinations to be passed shall be applicable also to those admitted to the Civil Service under Rule IX; provided that a recruit taken from the subordinate grades will be confirmed as soon as he fully qualifies himself by passing the prescribed examinations, irrespective of his putting in the full period of probation of two years, and that his initial pay in the grade of Assistant Commissioner, (new) Schedule B, shall be at least Rs. 50 more than the pay he was last permanently drawing in the subordinate grades.

XI. On becoming qualified for confirmation as above, a Probationary Assistant Commissioner of the new Schedule B will be appointed an Assistant Commissioner of the 5th class on Rs. 250 in that Schedule, and afterwards rise according to the scale given below:

To Assistant Commissioner, 4th class, on Rs. 300.	After three years' approved service in the 5th class.

To Assistant Commissioner, 1st class, on Rs. 450.	After three years' approved service in the 2nd class.

XII. An Assistant Commissioner of either Schedule who has put in at least two years in the first class of his grade, shall, if found fit, and if vacancies exist, be eligible for promotion to the grade of Senior Assistant Commissioner, carrying a pay of Rs. 500 rising by annual increments of Rs. 50 to Rs. 600. There shall be eight places in all in the last mentioned grade.

XIII. Every officer recruited by competition or by special selection under the rules shall, unless he has already received such training, be trained for not less than six months in the Survey Department and not less than six months in the Accounts Department; and every officer recruited by competition shall also be trained in the Judicial Department as a Munsiff or a Sub-Judge for not less than one year in the aggregate.

Appointments of Under and Assistant Secretaries in the General and Revenue Secretariat, Divisional and Treasury Officers in the Revenue Department, Subordinate Judges, Police Superintendents, Excise Divisional Officers, Assistant Superintendents of Survey, Assistant Comptrollers and other appointments of equal rank in the said Departments, shall be filled by officers qualified by aptitude and training from the grade of Assistant Commissioners without distinction of Schedules. Such officers will draw the pay proper to the class in which they happen to be, from time to time, plus any special or local allowance attached to the appointment which they fill.
